

HOBART SERVICE ASSOCIATE OF TECHNICAL STUDY DEGREE

EARN A DEGREE AT EDISON STATE. WORK AT HOBART SERVICE.

Edison State Community College and Hobart Service have partnered to facilitate the receipt of academic credit at Edison State—for technical training conducted by Hobart Service. This pathway presents a seamless transition for Hobart Service employees to take the next step to obtaining an Associate of Technical Study (ATS) degree.

Students will be able to choose from two areas of focus, business or industrial management. The business option will have an emphasis on customer service, financial accounting, marketing communication, organizational behavior and business communication. The industrial management option will have an emphasis on effective management, human relations in the workplace, operations management and labor relations.

Students who successfully complete courses from the Service Training School at Hobart may apply up to 29 credit hours toward the Associate of Technical Study degree available at Edison State. The balance of the coursework required may be completed online or on-campus in as little as one year.
